

Scientific activity in the Republic of Belarus

2025

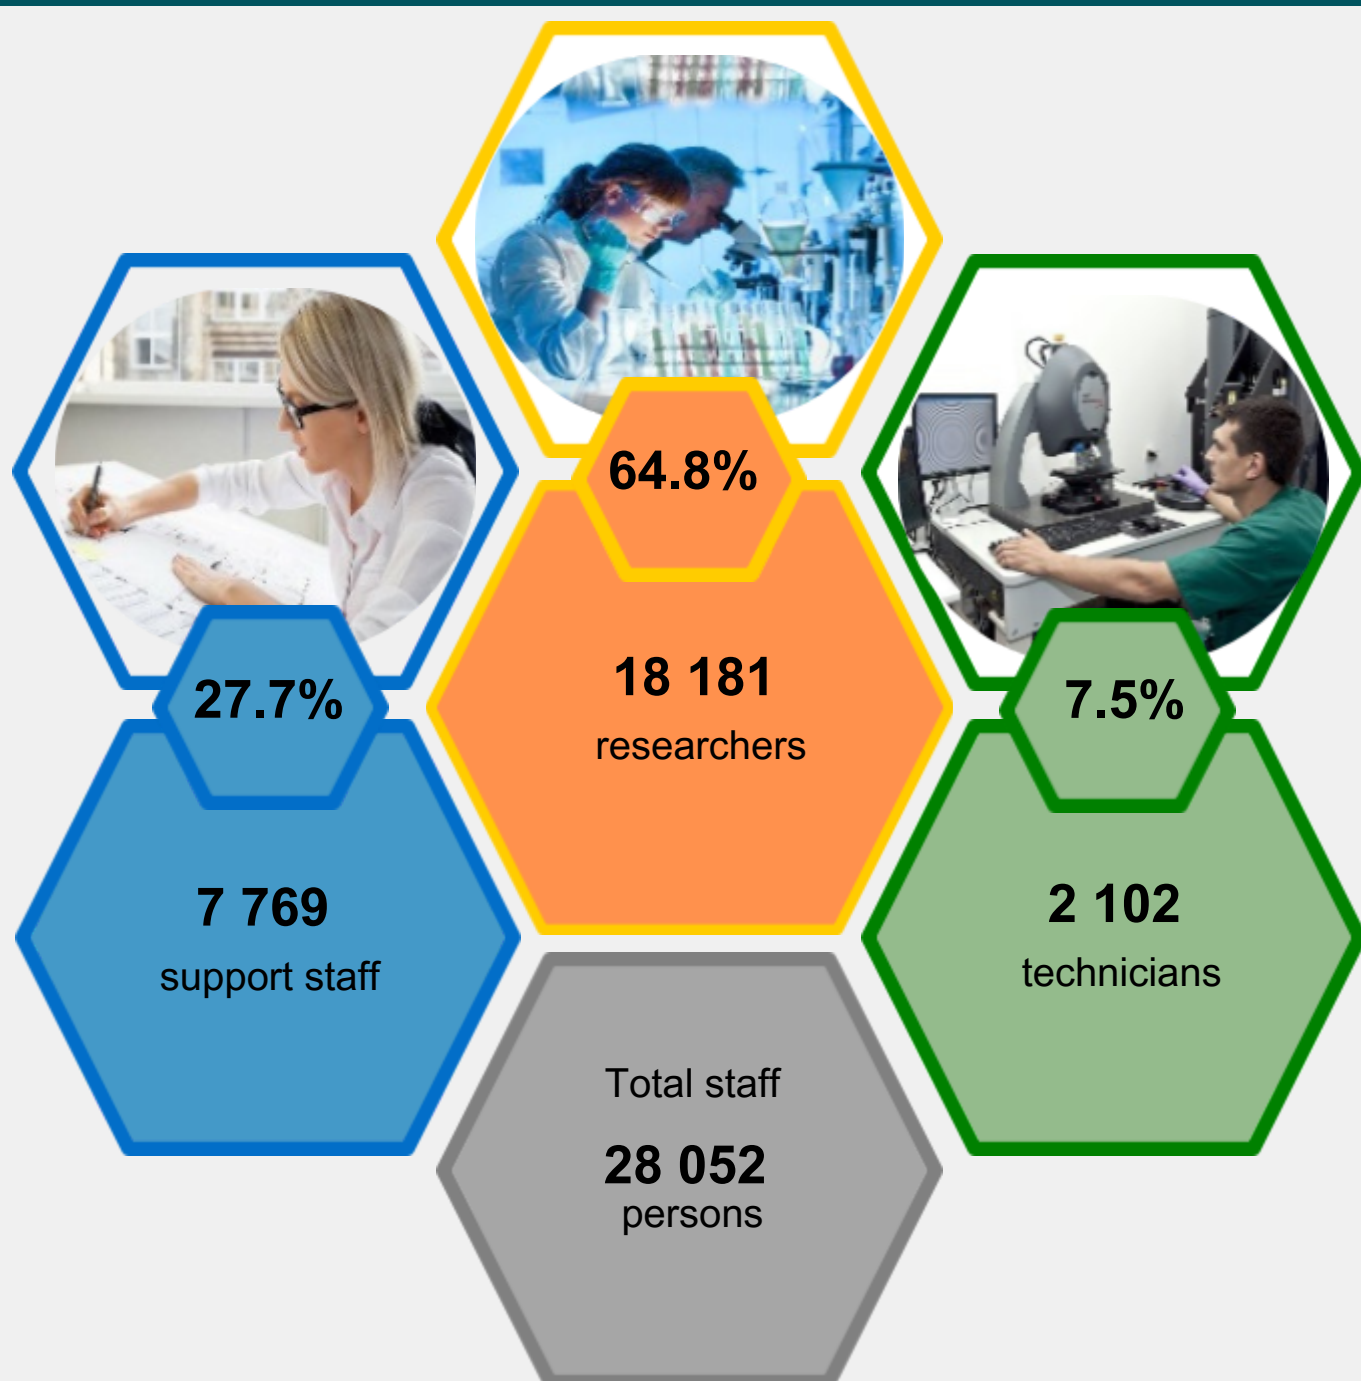

Number of organisations
carried out scientific research and development
(by sector of activity)

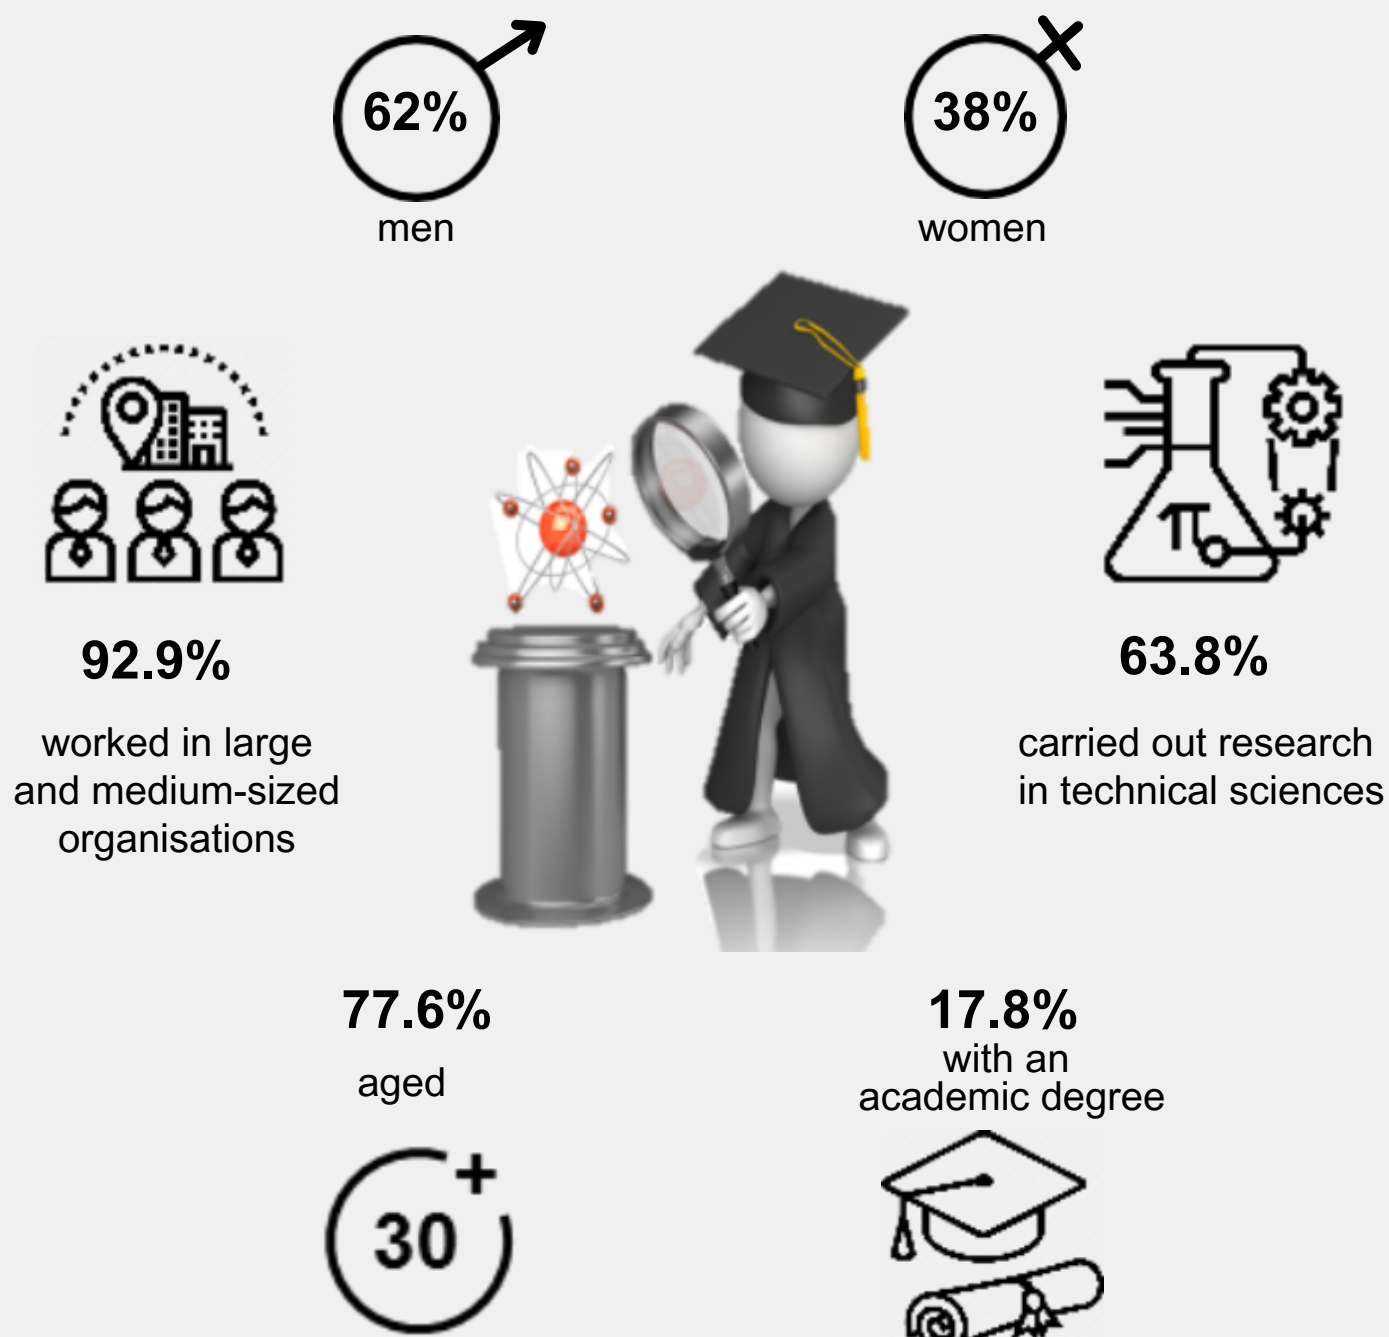

Structure of the number of employees
engaged in scientific research and development
(in percent)

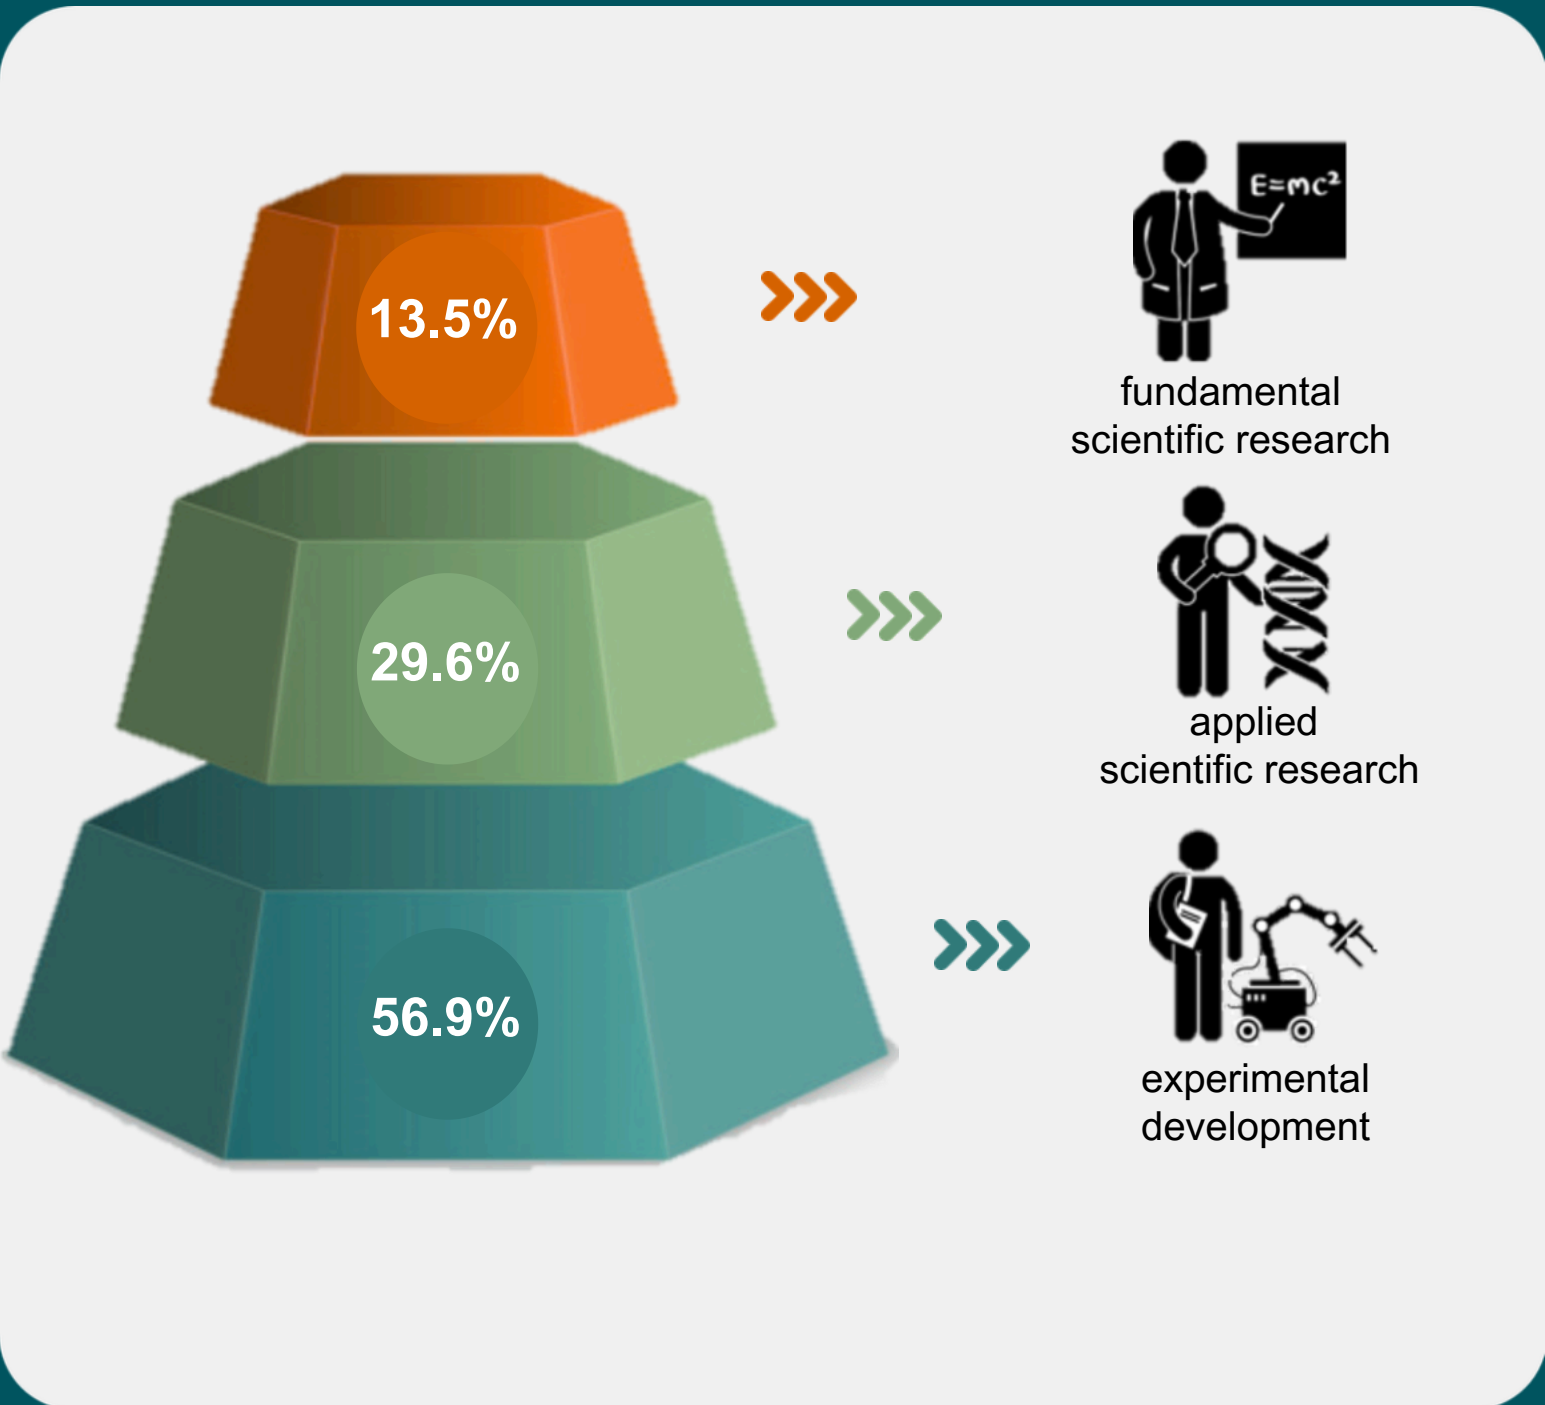

Number of employees
carried out scientific research and development
(by personnel category)

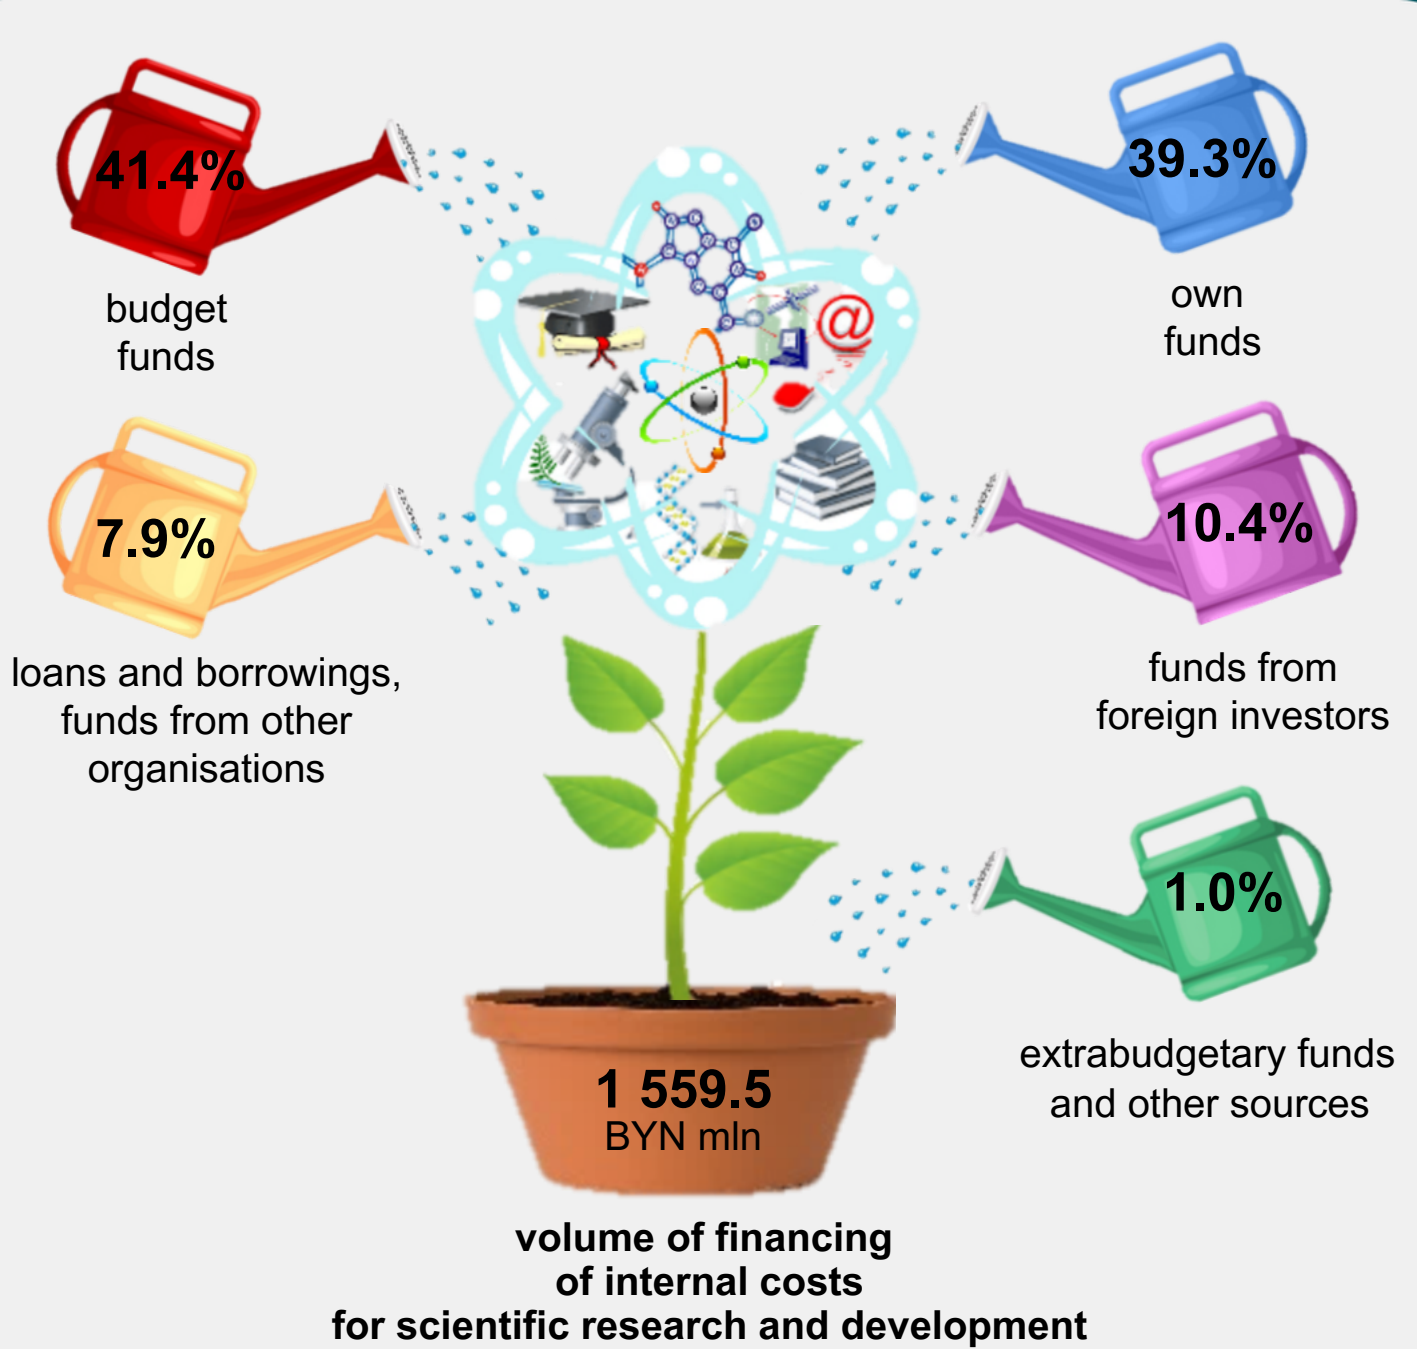

Belarussian researchers are:

Internal current costs for scientific research and development
(by type of work)

Structure of sources of internal costs financing for research and development

Current information is located:

Presented for information purposes.
When using the information, the reference to the National Statistical Committee of the Republic of Belarus is mandatory.